

Solutions: Empowering Families for Student Success

Dear families:

I am hoping the following information will help you in your most valued role – that of a family of a student entrusted to our teachers and staff. I truly believe families and public school staff have the same goal – your student’s success – academically, socially, and emotionally. I also believe that when we work together, each with our expertise and knowledge, we have the best opportunity to support your student’s success.

At times, you may need help, have questions, or simply need some information. The following Solutions information has been prepared as a resource to hopefully guide you in finding solutions to problems you may encounter

Please let us know if we can be of help! Your job raising your child and our job educating your child are the basis for an effective partnership focusing on your child’s success in school.

Sincerely,
