Description: AP European History will introduce students to significant cultural, economic, political and social developments within European History since 1450. The course is equivalent to a college level course and students may receive college credit by demonstrating mastery on the AP European History examination. This highly rewarding academic opportunity emphasizes reading (i.e., college level textbook, primary source documents, etc.) and writing (i.e., free response essays, document based questions, etc.). Prospective students should be highly motivated and prepared to complete a rigorous course of study. Students will be able to show mastery of the course content by taking part in the AP History Exam.
